

Upcoming Classes

Class sizes are limited. Preregistration is requested. Call 404-474-7072 to register or for more information.

Saturday, August 27th @ 10:30am

The Life Cycle of a Butterfly from Caterpillars to Chrysalis

Children's class

Optional tour of the Tucker Butterfly Garden following the class

Cost: Free

Instructor: Dawn Hines (MG)

Saturday, August 27th @ 2pm

Attracting Butterflies: What, When and How

Optional tour of the Tucker Butterfly Garden following the class

Cost: Free

Instructor: Dawn Hines (MG)

Saturday September 10th, 10am - 12 Noon

Audubon's Birds: Mobile

Create a mobile using geometric shapes while learning about John James Audubon. Sign up quick, only 10 slots available!

Ages: 7-10 (see sample in store)

Cost: $20

Instructor: Jeanne George

Tuesday September 13th, 10:30am

Flowers and Foliage for a Fabulous Fall

After the weather challenges of Atlanta summers, many of our fall-blooming native plants are indeed a bright spot in our gardens (and along our roadsides). Beginning in mid-September we are treated to blooms of asters, goldenrods, ironweed, Stone Mountain daisy and others, as well as the berries of beautyberry and red chokeberry. In addition, the foliage of many of our native shrubs and trees is reliably stunning. Fall is considered one of the best times to plant with a wide variety of plants available for purchase. This program will focus on the "tried and true" for Atlanta gardens.

Instructor: Karen Lindauer

Cost: Free

Thursday September 15th, 10:30am - 12 Noon

Introduction to Watercolor

Instructor: Jeanne George

Cost: $25 (supplies included)

Back by popular demand, don't miss out.

Saturday, September 24th, 10:30-11:30 am

Pest & Disease Identification & Control

Can you identify that pest on your plants or do you know what's causing the leaves to curl and drop off? Come hear Master Gardener Stan Leacock talk about common pests and diseases found in the garden and how to control them – organically as well as with chemicals when necessary.

Instructor: Stan Leacock

Cost: Free